NOTE: My concurrence also extends to the Confidential classification, which I believe should carry over to the draft DCID if this definition is included therein. Such classification would be necessary for the DCID as a whole to protect the Intelligence Community assessment of which categories of personnel have access to the most sensitive information and to help guard against such personnel being targeted by hostile intelligence.

2. Comments or amendments:*

- a. Concur with addition to paragraph 4 of phrase "foreign intelligence."
- c. Disapprove of proposed definition "f" as too sweeping and not specific enough to determine when the restrictions would be applicable. Possibly each agency could make decision on a case by case basis.
